COUNCIL TO DO SOME PAVING

Grants Petition to Improve Black and Half in First and Includes Two Perkins Blacks.

WILL MOVE STONE FROM PARK

Steam Roller Hauled Out and Steamed up But Not Used—Streets to be Prepared For Oiling

Prospects for lots of business at the regular meeting of the city council last night were very poor, but in two minutes after the meeting proper had opened the council had adopted a motion, unanimously to pave with brick three and a half blocks at the eastern and southern extremities of First and Perkins streets.

In addition to this important step, the council ordered all of the stone and brick removed from the city park and the branch running through it cleaned of the debris; instructed the street committee and street commissioner to have fourteen blocks of street torn up and graded, and any other that needed it, in preparation for oiling; passed a resolution to put in curb and gutter in Jackson street from First to Third streets; raised the wages of three firemen and three engineers at the water and light plant to 25 cents an hour and accomplished a number of other things of minor importance.

And the administration forces had the road roller out for a little while, had steam up and threatened to flatten out Dr. C. H. Parsons, but it was finally run back into the barn, still puffing to await for a more convenient time.

It was all over that 1913 legislature act, pertaining to the oiling, sweeping and improving of streets, which was written by City Attorney Howard Barrett and put through the legislature by Senator Cary Jackson. The mere mention of that law and the sweeping of Main and Second streets presaged a fight, because Dr. Parsons drew first blood at the last council meeting when he, with the aid of the two Republican councilmen, passed a motion that the street sweeping be paid as it had been in 1912, and not make the property owners stand the bill, which Mayor Black and the other two councilmen proposed to do under the new law.

Last night Dr. Parsons was placed at a disadvantage, because Councilman George F. Moore was not present. Mayor Black would have had the deciding vote on a close question where the council was equally divided.

The city attorney slyly brought up the question by calling the council's attention to the fact that some streets had not been included in the oiling resolution passed at the last meeting. An error was made, he said, in leaving out West Second from Jackson to Hannah, and in not passing a resolution to sweep Main and Second streets.

City Attorney Barrett pulled down the new acts and read a passage from his law to show that the statute compelled the council to pass a resolution for street sweeping just the same as street oiling. By his expression, Dr. Parsons indicated that they had him fouled. He sat tight and never said a word.

"It's illegal the way we're doing it, isn't it?" asked Councilman Orme. "What'll we do?" questioned Mayor Black, addressing the council.

"I didn't know there was any matter before the council," replied Dr. Parsons.

Then the mayor explained the city attorney's version of the law. Dr. Parsons pointed out that the council settled the question at the last meeting.

GIRL FAILS AT SUICIDE

Louise Smith Takes Paregoric But Didn't Get Enough.

Louise Smith, daughter of Mrs. Dennis O'Neil, attempted suicide yesterday afternoon by taking a quantity of paregoric. Paregoric is not a very good poison unless taken in exceedingly large doses and the girl will recover. She was taken ill while at work at the City restaurant, and was rushed into the office of Dr. W. C. Smith. She would not tell what she had taken but the physician saw that she was in no danger as the pulse was normal and ordered her taken home. The girl after being taken home told what she had taken and stated that her reason for wanting to die was that she had been ill treated. Her relatives deny this.

COMPLETE PLANS FOR ENCAMPMENT

Uniform Rank Regiments From Two States Will Gather at Danville, Ill., in August.

GEN. TRABUE FAVORS PLAN

Arrangements for a two-state encampment of the Uniform Rank, Knights of Pythias have been completed. The encampment will be held in Danville, Ill., the latter part of August and it will be participated in by six regiments from Indiana, including the third regiment of which the local company is a part. Five regiments from Illinois will take part along with the six from Indiana.

The purpose of the gathering is to increase interest in the organization and to increase efficiency of the officers and members. A total of $4,150 in prizes has been pledged. Gen. Samuel Trabue of this city is in favor of the encampment and while it is not known whether the local company will send a full company some of the members will attend regardless.

FAME OF PATENT IS INTERNATIONAL

Madden Brothers Receive an Order
From Amsterdam, Holland, For Drill Press Vise.

HAVE ANOTHER INVENTION

The Madden Brothers company, which operates a foundry in West Second street, is having great success with a quick acting drill press vise, which has been invented and patented. The fame of the attachment is international. Recently the company received an order for twelve of these attachments from Amsterdam, Holland. The order will be shipped in a few days.

Lately the company has perfected another useful machine tool—a milling attachment for lathes, which will be a convenient tool for small machine shops, especially for automobile repair shops.

KILLED IN AUTO ACCIDENT.

George Puntney received a telegram yesterday announcing that Jim McCullough, a chum of his while they were students in Monmouth college, Monmouth, Ill., had been killed in an automobile accident in California. Mr. McCullough was also a friend of Eugene C. Miller while in Harvard university.

BIG BARN NEAR MANILLA BURNS

Heavy Loss is Sustained on the Cary
Thomas Farm When Lightning Hits Structure.

COW IS KILLED BY THE BOLT

People Here Believed Fire Was in City so Much Did the Blaze
Light the Heavens.

Lightning struck the large barn on the Cary Thomas farm west of Manilla last night, burning it to the ground; together with a large quantity of hay, grain and other contents. A cow standing near the barn when it was hit was killed. Bert Sheppel is the tenant on the farm.

There was much speculation here in Rushville last night as to where the fire was located. People down in the business district ventured the opinion that the fire was inside the corporation line and wondered why the fire bell had not rung. The blaze lighted up the heavens so it was very noticeable here.

The lightning struck the barn at about eight-thirty o'clock. At the time a milk cow, valued at sixty-five dollars was standing at the end of the barn and was instantly killed. The live stock in the barn were not affected, however. There were several tons of hay in the barn, and this took fire and in a very short time the flames had gained such headway that it was impossible to check them.

Neighbors for many miles about hurried to the place, hoping to be of assistance, and seeing that it would be useless to attempt saving the structure they turned their efforts to rescuing the stock and taking what of value they could from the burning barn.

In it at the time were some seven or eight horses, two mules and a number of cows, and all these were removed to places of safety. Almost all the wagons, buggies, harness, implements and other contents of a like nature were saved. A clover buncher and about two hundred bushels of corn, between four and five tons of timothy hay, an old buggy, and one set of harness are known to have gone up in smoke.

The barn was a valuable structure, large, comparatively new, and very conveniently arranged. It was forty by sixty feet in dimensions and had been on the place for several years, but had only a few years ago been remodeled and added to. A large corn crib was at that time built along one side of the barn and the entire length of it, and a wagon shed added. All these sheds burned with the barn.

The barn stood not more than fifty feet from the house and it was only by a favorable wind and downpour of rain that the men who gathered at the scene were enabled to save the home from destruction. Had the wind been in an opposite direction it would have been absolutely impossible to save the house, but as it was it carried the flame away from it; but in spite of this fact the side nearest the burning building became so hot that it could hardly be touched. No estimate could be obtained on the loss caused by the fire, but it will amount to several hundred dollars. It will not, however, be total, as insurance was carried on the structure by the owner, the policy being one in the Farmers Mutual Fire Insurance company of Shelby county and also in Johnson county.

The Thomas farm is on the Rushville pike, one and one-half miles west of Rays Crossing in Shelby county. It is well known throughout the county as the Jap Carpenter farm, being the Carpenter homestead where Mr. Carpenter himself lived.

HAMBROCK CASE WAS TRIED TODAY

Suit For Divorce From Fayette
County Heard by Judge Megee—Formerly Lived Here.

WOLVERTON CASE DISMISSED

Asked That Decree be Modified—
Brought Out That he Married
Mayme DeRussell.

Judge Megee heard the evidence in one divorce case and the petition to modify the decree in another suit today. The petition to modify a decree was that of Clayton Wolverton against Blanch Wolverton and the divorce case was Pearl Hambrock against Julius Hambrock. The divorce case was tried this afternoon.

The Hambrock case was sent here on a change of venue from Fayette county. The evidence showed that the Hambrocks had considerable domestic trouble. It was brought out that they were once divorced and then remarried. Mrs. Hambrock alleges that Mr. Hambrock was accustomed to getting intoxicated and several policemen from Connersville testified that he had been arrested twice for intoxication and once on a peace warrant filed by Mrs. Hambrock.

On the two occasions that he was arrested for intoxication nothing was ever done and he was put on a car and sent to this city. Mrs. Hambrock runs a rooming house in Connersville and testified that she received little support from him. Once recently she testified she gave him two dollars to buy flowers for their little daughter who was ill with diphtheria and that he kept the money. At a late hour this afternoon the case had not been finished.

The case brought by Clayton Wolverton against his wife, Blanch Wolverton, who divorced him, to modify the decree compelling him to pay a sum monthly to support his boy and girl, was dismissed this morning by the court for want of evidence to substantiate the claim, on motion of John H. Kiplinger, attorney for Mrs. Wolverton.

The case had not been concluded when the motion to dismiss was made and sustained by Judge Megee. One thing unknown to Rushville people was brought out in the evidence. It developed that Mr. Wolverton had married Mayme DeRussell, of talking picture fame, a week after the divorce had been granted to Mrs. Wolverton.

Mayme DeRussell was named as the woman who had caused the trouble between Mr. and Mrs. Wolverton in the divorce trial. She came here while Wolverton was running the old Vaudeville theater to put on a talking picture stunt. Mrs. Wolverton alleged in the divorce proceedings that her husband and the woman were too intimate. She remained here for some time and later she and Wolverton played in several Ohio towns with their talking picture act.

When Judge Blair entered a decree in the case, he gave Mr. and Mrs. John Wolverton, parents of the defendant, custody of the little Wolverton boy, and Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Jarvis, parents of the plaintiff, custody of the little girl.

An amusing incident occurred in the trial this morning when witnesses for Wolverton testified exactly contrary to what his attorney expected. Mrs. Joseph Offutt and Mrs. Maurice Maxey, next-door neighbors of Mrs. Jarvis, were asked if the condition in the Jarvis home were anything but ideal. They both were very emphatic in their assertions that the home life was fine, as good as they had ever seen.

ANNUAL MEMORIAL SERMON

To Veterans Will be Preached by the Rev. W. H. Wylie.

The G. A. R. will observe its annual memorial service Sunday morning at the St. Paul M. E. church. The Rev. W. H. Wylie will deliver the memorial sermon. The G. A. R. has asked the P. O. S. of A. lodge to join in the service and the lodge has accepted the invitation. Members of the order in Glenwood and other towns will also take part. The members of the lodge will meet in the lodge room at nine o'clock Sunday morning and march in a body to the church with the G. A. R. The war veterans will meet at the court house at the same time.

DR. L. C. KIGIN TURNS DOWN GOOD OFFER

Former Rushville Veterinarian Refuses Position as Traveling Lecturer of University.

WILL DEVOTE SOME TIME TO IT

Dr. L. C. Kigin, until a few months ago a veterinarian of this city, has refused an offer of an excellent position as a demonstrator for the University of Nebraska, because his practice is fast increasing and is very lucrative, and he did not feel that he could afford to risk a chance with a position that might be temporary.

It would have been Dr. Kigin's duty to travel about the state and to demonstrate the application of hog cholera serum, which is supplied free by the state to farmers. The state veterinarian is finding trouble obtaining a man who can fill the place. For this reason Dr. Kigin has been persuaded to devote a part of his time to the lecture work. The regular work in this capacity pays $1500 and traveling expenses. Reports from Lincoln are that Dr. Kigin has made many friends and is making a big success of his profession.

W. D. ROOT RECOVERING.

Lawrence Root has returned from Chicago where he spent a few days with his father, W. D. Root of Piqua, Ohio, who went there on May 6 to take treatment of Dr. Fuitterer for ulcer of the stomach. On May 11, very unexpectedly he was operated on by Dr. Halstead for appendicitis. Mr. Root is recovering nicely from the operation and will soon be able to continue the treatment for the stomach trouble.

Albert Smelser of Noble township is slowly improving.

MOST VALUABLE ONE IN HISTORY

Meeting of Bank and Trust Company
Officials at Columbus Yesterday a Pronounced Success.

AT SHELBYVILLE NEXT YEAR

Shelbyville Man is Named Chairman and St. Paul Man Secretary—Helpful Addresses.

Officials of the banks and trust companies of group six, which includes Rush county, held the most interesting meeting in the history of the organization at Columbus yesterday. The Peoples National bank and the Peoples Loan & Trust company were the only local financial institutions represented at the session.

The next meeting of group six will be held at Shelbyville. The officers elected were: Chairman Dr. S. P. McCrea, president of the Farmers National bank, Shelbyville; secretary, Walter Hungerford, cashier of the St. Paul bank, St. Paul. The members of the executive committee are: John N. Milliken, assistant cashier of the Citizens' State Bank, New Castle; A. A. Hackman, president of the Batesville Bank, Batesville; A. E. Nowlin, president of the Dearborn National Bank, Lawrenceburg; E. R. Lemon, secretary of the Dickinson Trust Company, Richmond; J. M. Perkins, cashier of the national bank at Rising Sun.

Frank Griffith, of Columbus, who is the retiring chairman of group six, called the meeting to order and the bankers sang "America," the Columbus Republican says. Prayer was offered by John W. Johnson, cashier of the Patriot Deposit Bank, of Patriot, Ind.

Hugh Th. Miller, of Irwin's Bank, made the address of welcome. He spoke of the neighborly spirit of the bankers in this section of Indiana and told how the bankers are dependent to a large extent upon the agricultural interests of each county. He praised the vocational work that is being undertaken in a large way in this state.

Col. J. L. McCullough, of Marion, who is president of the Indiana Bankers' Association, spoke briefly on "Our Association," telling its aims and purposes and urging loyalty and fidelity to the association on the part of individual banks and bankers.

The chief address of the morning was given by Prof. G. I. Christie, superintendent of the Department of Agricultural Extension, of Purdue University. "Back to the Farm," was his subject. Prof. Christie pointed out that in rural communities sixty per cent of the bank deposits come

RACE QUESTION NOW LOOMS BIG

Japs Will Demand Citizenship Over Here.

COMPLICATES THE SITUATION

The Utter Improbability of Congress Ever Granting Such a Demand Gives to the Latest Threatened Development of the Japanese Imbroglio an Aspect Which Is Likely to Prove Embarrassing to the Administration.

Washington, May 21.—The entire Japanese issue is now up to Japan, and it will be only as serious as Japan herself cares to make it. Now that this government's notice has been delivered to Ambassador Chinda and transmitted by him to Tokio, Secretary Bryan has indicated that there will be nothing doing in the situation so far as Washington is concerned until the Japanese government makes some rejoinder to the United States and answer to its protests against the California alien land law.

The most interesting phase of the situation here was the growth of the impression that Japan intends to ask for her subjects in the United States the privileges of American citizenship. Dispatches from Tokio, official and unofficial, indicate that the Japanese government and people are unanimous in the determination that citizenship must be demanded unless the California law is eliminated.

Confirmation of the sentiment among the Japs was found also in the words of the Japanese representatives of the leading political parties who have arrived at San Francisco to investigate conditions in California, affecting their countrymen. This question of naturalization of Japanese was not mentioned in the Japanese protest and neither is it discussed in the reply to this protest which Ambassador Chinda received from Secretary Bryan, but it seems certain that the question of citizenship soon will become the chief issue in the controversy. This conviction is based partly on the fact that there is expectation that the reply of the United States will prove satisfactory to Japan, and partly on the indications from Japan that that country is prepared to make such a demand.

The raising of this question of citizenship by the Japanese would prove embarrassing to President Wilson, according to opinion here. The president could not yield to the Japanese demand when it was made because the question of naturalization is solely in the hands of congress. That the sentiment in the senate is overwhelmingly against the granting of citizenship to Japanese already has been clearly indicated, and it is believed that in the house the opposition to any such proposal would be even stronger. Knowing this to be the case, it is considered as extremely unlikely that the president would even ask congress to revise the naturalization laws so as to admit Japanese to citizenship. On the other hand, to refuse even to ask congress to make such an amendment to the naturalization laws would likely insure the resentment of the Japanese.

JAPS CLAMORING FOR WAR

Government Having Difficulty in Staying Popular Demand.

Tokio, May 21.—Since the news that the Californian alien land ownership bill had been signed by Governor Johnson was received here, the government has redoubled its efforts to pacify public opinion in the belief that Washington will find a peaceful solution of the problem. It is felt, however, that it will be difficult to stem the tide of popular anger against the United States, as the Japanese generally regard the issue as one involving their national honor.

The bankers and big business men of the country are strongly in favor of moderation and are bending all their efforts to avoid a conflict, but considerable alarm is evident in official circles at the attitude of the lower classes, who seem to desire war on any pretext and on any conditions. The old Samurai spirit appears to be reviving and the emperor and his entourage, bearing in mind the success of the Republic movement in China, which has had a strong effect on the peasantry and the workers in the cities of Japan, are more or less afraid to resist it.

Even the more conservative elements in Japanese public life are echoing the popular demand for equal treatment of the Japanese and other foreigners in America, and although they do not express any fear that the present situation will result in war, they feel that a change in the attitude of Americans, as displayed by the action of California, is necessary to insure a continuance of peaceful relations between the two countries.

Arthur Bailly-Blanchard, secretary of the American embassy, called on the Japanese foreign minister, Baron Nobeski Makino, and assured him that the United States would do its utmost to find a peaceful solution of the dispute, asserting again that it was not an American, but only a Californian issue.

WILL GIVE A THRONE AS A WEDDING GIFT

Kaiser's Son-in-Law to Be Made a Duke.

Berlin, May 21.—The Kaiser's principal gift to Prince Ernest of Cumberland and Princess Victoria Louise, the emperor's daughter, whose marriage is to be celebrated on Saturday, it is said, will be a throne. The Kaiser, it is declared, intends to proclaim Brunswick an independent German duchy with Prince Ernest and Princess Victoria as its first reigning sovereigns. The Bundesrath, it is added, has already completed the legal and political formalities and Brunswick, the capital of the future duchy, is busily preparing a state entry for the new rulers.

This step on the part of the Kaiser is looked upon as the ending of the long-standing feud between the Hohenzollerns and the Guelphs, to which the house of Brunswick belongs.

Put It Off a Year.

Atlanta, Ga., May 21.—The bitter controversy which has been rife within the ranks of the Northern Presbyterian general assembly regarding the Union Theological seminary of New York, was brought to a sudden close with the adoption of a motion that a committee be appointed to investigate the charges of heresy against the seminary and report at next year's meeting.

Italians Suffer Heavy Losses.

Rome, May 21.—Official reports of the fighting between the Italians and the Arabs Sunday at Derna show the engagement to have been one of the fiercest since Turkey gave up the struggle on the Tripoli territory. The Italians lost seven officers and seventy-two men killed and twenty officers and 250 men wounded.

May Block Peace Pronam.

London, May 21.—The fact that neither Greece nor Serbia has yet signed the peace preliminary, thus blocking the peace pourparlers which were to have been begun in London today, strengthens the fear expressed in some quarters that a new Balkan war is at hand.

VETERANS VISIT STATE CAPITAL

Grand Army Reunion Now On at Indianapolis.

CITY IS GAILY DECORATED

In Honor of the Old Soldiers Who Are This Week Holding Their Annual Encampment in the Capital City for the First Time Since 1902, Streets Are Fluttering With Bunting and a Warm Welcome Is Being Extended.

Indianapolis, May 21.—The Indiana Department of the Grand Army of the Republic is holding its annual reunion in Indianapolis for the first time since the Indiana Soldiers' and Sailors' monument was dedicated to their dead, in 1902. A great crowd is here, visitors to a city which is honoring their presence with lavish displays of flags, bunting and other decorations.

The host which met here today is not numerically as strong as it was a year ago, 700 veterans having passed over during 1912. The Indiana G. A. R. roster now numbers 11,537 men, evidence of a steady diminution in the veterans' ranks since the high tide was reached in 1893, when there were 21,215. Up until 1894 the Grand Army met annually in Indianapolis, but since that time but one encampment has been held here, that to which Indiana was invited when the monument was dedicated.

Several hundred members of the Sons of Veterans, Women's Relief Corps, Ladies of the G. A. R., and Ladies' Auxiliary to the Sons of Veterans, have arrived for their several department encampments, which, with the sessions of the G. A. R., will continue through Friday.

The business sessions of the several organizations will begin at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning. The parade will be held at 2:15 o'clock in the afternoon. Campfires will be held at 8 o'clock tomorrow evening at Tomlinson hall and the Second Presbyterian church, after which there will be a public reception and dance at the Denison hotel by Ben Harrison camp No.

Anty Drudge—"Good morning, Mrs. Joyful. I heard you singing as I came along and I just stopped in to tell you how good it sounds. No need to tell you about Fels-Naptha Soap, I see. There'd be more women singing over the tubs, if they'd use Fels-Naptha."

Monday is just as bright and sunshiny as any other day. If you don't think so, it is because you haven't ever used Fels - Naptha Soap.

You can do your wash with cool or lukewarm water, without boiling or hard rubbing, and get it on the line in time to have a rest before starting your midday meal.

Fels - Naptha makes everything brighter, even the skies on Monday.

Good Filling Makes a Good Cake—

That you may know how good a cream filling for cake may be, try this one made with Knox Sparkling Gelatine. It will make a delicious cake.

Knox Cream Filling for Cake

Scald one pint milk; beat the yolks of two eggs, add a few grains of salt and one-third cup sugar and when well mixed stir and cook in the hot milk until the mixture coats the spoon; then add a level tablespoonful Knox Sparkling Gelatine that has been soaked five minutes in one-fourth cup cold milk; strain, and when cool and beginning to thicken, beat thoroughly and spread upon the cake.

Two Packages— 4 individual packages. Both Making Two Quarts (½ gallon) of Jelly. With the Plain Sparkling, lemons are used for flavoring; but with the Acidulated package comes an envelope of concentrated lemon juice—a great convenience when too busy to squeeze lemons. Both contain a tablet for coloring.

Let us send you the Knox Recipe Book and enough Gelatine to make one pint —enough to try most any one of our desserts, puddings, salads, jellies, ice creams, sherbets, candies, etc.

During the encampment the Loyal Legion, the several posts of the G. A. R. in Indianapolis and the Spanish War Veterans will keep open house at their headquarters to visiting comrades.

POOR RELIEF IN THE STATE

More Than 51,000 Persons Received Public Aid Last Year.

Indianapolis, May 21.—The forthcoming bulletin of the board of state charities will contain the annual report of the state board concerning its tabulation of the reports of all the township trustees in Indiana in regard to poor relief in the state during the year of 1912. The reports indicate that 51,081 persons, or about 1.8 per cent of the state's population, received help from the public treasury in 1912 through the township trustee's office. The number included 24,524 men and boys and 26,557 women and girls. The white persons numbered 47,346, or 93 per cent, the colored 3,735, or 7 per cent. In the whole population of Indiana the percentage of white and colored is 97.8 and 2.2 respectively. It appears, therefore, that in proportion to their numbers three times as many colored persons as white required public aid during the year. In the case of 33,238 of those aided, the help given was of a temporary nature, while the remaining 17,843 were on the poor list for periods of three months or more. The money value of the relief amounted to $305,692.71. Equally distributed this would have averaged $5.98 to each person sharing the relief.

Tried to Blackmail Wilson.

Newark, N. J., May 21.—Jacob Dunn and Seeley Davenport, who were arrested at Morristown last December, charged with having attempted to blackmail President Wilson, were found guilty in the United States district court. It was charged that they had written letters to Mr. Wilson in which they demanded $5,000 under penalty of death if he failed to comply with the demand. The maximum penalty is twenty years in prison and a fine of $4,000.

Carmen Return to Work.

Cincinnati, May 21.—Streetcar traffic, suspended almost completely for nine days, has been resumed following the signing of an agreement by representatives of the Cincinnati Traction company and their 2,000 striking employees.

Notice of Final Settlement.

Notice is hereby given to the creditors, heirs and legatees of Sidney M. Brooks, deceased, to appear in the Rush Circuit Court, held at Rushville, Indiana, on the 14th day of June, 1913, and show cause, if any, why Final Settlement Accounts with the estate of said decedent should not be approved; and said heirs are notified to then and there make proof of heirship, and receive their distributive shares.

Being Bull Moosed.

W. K. Stewart, Bull Moose candidate for the nomination for mayor in Indianapolis, has been Bull Moosed.

ed by the Indianapolis Star. He admits it. He has been telling Indianapolis audiences about it.

He has merely received a dose of his own medicine and he is complaining about it. He, with the Indianapolis Star, turned his back on the Republican party. He admitted in a speech recently that he had been persuaded to be a Bull Moose after a few minutes talk with ex-Senator Beveridge. Hear his own words in this regard:

"I have known the editor of the Star for the few years he has been in this city, and I do not wish to say anything to his disparagement at this time, but I do want to ask you fairly how much weight should be given to the opinion of one individual as to your choice for mayor. In this case, the Indianapolis Star's editor is one man who sits at a desk—a man, if you please, who circulates only between his home, his office and the Columbia Club, the latter a place where you hardly expect him to get many Progressive ideas.

"Without consulting with men of the Progressive party, and without discussing the matter with me, who had been requested to announce myself probably more urgently by the Star than by any other one person, or concern, the Star editor writes an editorial in favor of one of the three candidates. I do not question the right of this editor as a private individual to have and express his opinion as to the relative fitness of the three candidates, but I do say that the foundation idea of the Progressive party is that we are to let the people rule, to let the people decide things, to give every man a show for the white alley, to let the voters select the man they desire to represent them after a fair opportunity to consider the question.

"It seems to be a serious abuse of power, under these circumstances, when one individual can sit down at his desk and reach through the channels of his newspaper several hundred thousands of readers, giving space to his ideas, that only the wealthiest of men could possibly purchase in his own defense. Had this editor, before he wrote his editorial, consulted with the men, with whom he talked after he wrote it, I doubt very much whether his editorial position would ever have been taken. There has since, however, been a vain struggle on the part of this morning paper to seek an endorsement of its position."

Great things are expected of the new fire marshal law. The township trustees and the city fire chiefs all over Indiana are elected his assistants under the law and are supposed to report each fire in their bailiwick.

What may be accomplished here is well exemplified by the record that has been made in Ohio. A state fire marshal has been in charge there for thirteen years, with practically the same powers as given to the Indiana marshal. During 1901 there were 7,011 fires in Ohio, causing a loss of $11,196,189. During 1911, there were 4,930 fires and a total loss of $5,718,120.

Ohio's State fire marshal has lowered the annual number of fires by 2,000 and he has cut the losses in half. And it is a noteworthy fact that while the average fire loss for 1901 was $1,600, the figure had been reduced to about $1,150 during 1911.

This indicates the elimination of conditions tending toward fire and the consequent prevention of rapid spreading of flames. Fires are now extinguished before they do the damage that was common in 1901. It should be borne in mind, also, that Ohio has increased materially in population since 1900, and that the reduction in the number of fires and in the aggregate losses has been accomplished notwithstanding.

Indiana has approximately one-half the population of Ohio, and it is fair to presume that Indiana's present fire losses are about one-half those of Ohio in 1901. This would be about $5,500,000. It is shown that during 1911, in Ohio, there was 60 cents in insurance for every dollar of value in burned property.

Taking this as a basis for Indiana, $2,200,000 vanishes in smoke in one year in Indiana—with nothing left behind it but total loss. The remaining $3,300,000 would be covered by insurance, but it must be remembered that the people pay this great sum with their insurance premiums.

Those who do not suffer fire losses pay the losses of those who do.

The people of Ohio awoke to the realization of this fact. They became convinced that fires can be prevented. They co-operate with the state fire marshal's office and fires were prevented as has been shown.

If fires had continued in Ohio at the rate shown for 1901, the loss for the last eleven years would have been $123,158,079.

As a matter of record, under the fire marshal law, the actual losses for the eleven years totaled $79,914,486.

The fire marshal law efficiently administered, has saved the people of Ohio in eleven years $43,243,593. In proportion to its size, Indiana can do as well.

A Dearborn county woman left her husband because he insisted in cooking beefsteak smothered in onions and limburger cheese, and he has brought suit for divorce. Comment in this case is wholly needless.

Mushrooms are some peoples' idea of something to hunt and they are said to be enjoyed by people who like them. The only real objection is that often the mushroom wiseacre dies from eating toadstools.

But you may hunt mushrooms, of course, if you think they are something to hunt for.

No More Storage of Grain by Dealers and Millers

In an interview with Grain Dealers and Millers of Rush County, as to the effect of the recent legislation, which provides that Mills, Elevators and Warehouses, that accept grain on deposit or storage, with or without compensation, shall become public storage companies, and fall under the jurisdiction of the Public Service Commission, the same as Railroads, Interurban Roads, Telegraph Companies, etc.

Each authorized the statement that they could not afford to comply with the requirements of the law governing public service companies, with its complicated system of bookkeeping, reports, etc., when business itself is unprofitable, hence they can not now longer accept grain on storage without rendering themselves liable to heavy penalties, therefore, to a man, they propose to abandon the practice entirely, and since the practice of loaning money to depositors and others has been indulged in so liberally by some grain dealers, in consequence of the storage of grain and otherwise, it is understood that such as have thus performed the functions of the banker will abandon that practice and no more money will be advanced, loaned or provided for by them, except in payment for grain, seed, etc., as the same is purchased and delivered.

Swafford was willing.
Then the courtship began. Cupid's darts went home. It was brief—only four weeks, and they were agreed that they should get married and she should be his housekeeper for life. They came to Rushville and procured a license.
The Rev. J. B. Meacham, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, heard the telephone bell at his home tinkle, just like a bride-to-be would press the button—gently, quaveringly. He answered and heard that someone wanted to get married.
"Wait a minute," he said. "Have you been divorced?"
"Yes," came back the reply, "but my husband is dead."
They arrived and the ceremony was performed.
"I am anxious," said the minister, "to know how you happened to come to me to be married. I never knew you and I am wondering what twist of circumstance brought you here."
"We saw your name on the bulletin board at the church," confessed the bride, "and we just came here."
"It does pay to advertise," declared the Rev. Mr. Meacham and the bride confirmed the statement. The pastor's curiosity was aroused. He questioned the couple and Mrs. Davis said she did not care if the whole world knew the romance if her husband didn't. He didn't, and she repeated the story.

from the farmers. He declared it was only good business for the bankers to assist the farmer in getting bigger crops and better live stock, because when the farmer has more money the banks will have more deposits.

Speaking of the ravages of hog cholera in Indiana, Prof. Christie said the banks would have done well to inaugurate a movement to stamp it out, because the death of thousands of hogs reduced materially the amount of money the farmers had to deposit.

Prof. Christie spoke briefly of the new vocational training law in Indiana, and explained by charts how it works. He asked the bankers to become interested in this law and to see that it is properly administered. For the first year thirty counties may invoke state aid and secure a county agent to assist the farmers in agricultural work. For the second year sixty counties are privileged to have an agent and for the third year the entire ninety-two counties of the state had already raised the required amount of money and had made formal application for a state agent. Speaking to the bankers here, he urged them to arrange for meetings in their counties so their people could have an agent and take advantage of the new law.

NO DIFFERENCE The Proof is Here the Same as Everywhere.

For those who seek relief from kidney backache, weak kidneys, bladder ills, Doan's Kidney Pills offer hope of relief and the proof is here, in Rushville, the same as everywhere. Rushville people have used Doan's and Rushville people recommend Doan's, the kidney remedy used in America for fifty years. Why suffer? Why run the risk of dangerous kidney ills—fatal Bright's disease. Here's Rushville proof. Investigate it.

J. F. Champion, 618 W. Fifth St., Rushville, Ind., says: "I still think highly of Doan's Kidney Pills and am glad to confirm what my wife said in their praise in 1907. Some years ago I suffered a great deal from backache and kidney weakness. Seeing Doan's Kidney Pills advertised, I got a supply from Johnson and Co's Drug Store. They gave me complete relief."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

CHAPTER V.

To Find Out the Truth.

KAYTON broke off with a nod as Mrs. Beauregard, the cook, waddled into the room. She was a round faced old negress with woolly gray hair, strong teeth, still white, and a mouth of amazing breadth, depth and construction. In build she followed the line of a squat and badly constructed cylinder. In motion she resembled a venerable black duck. She wore a neat blue calico dress and white apron, and about her head was the inevitable kerchief of the negro serving woman. But Mrs. Beauregard's was a snowy white. She rolled her eyes ponderously about the room and finally brought them to rest on the great detective, who was surveying her critically.

"Am yo' de gen'tleman wants to see me?" she inquired heavily, her arms akimbo and one broad foot advanced, giving her a singularly truculent air. Kitty hastily vanished, and Kayton smiled upon the old negress.

"Are you Mrs. Beauregard?" he inquired.

"Yes, suh, Ah am," she replied, voice and expression being by no means encouraging. "An' Ah's heah to say Ah don' wanna see yo'. Ah's seen nuff o' you p'leecemen. Ah observe eb'ry-eb'ry time anythin' bad occurs in this heah whild yo' allus tries to put it on to cullud folks."

"How long have you lived here, Mrs. Beauregard?" inquired Kayton courteously, ignoring the arraignment of the police.

"H'm!" sniffed the cook contemptuously. "How long has Ah libed heah? Lawd o' lobe, Ah allus libed heah! Ah libed heah eber since Miss Mary wuz a lil' child. What business is it o' yo' how long Ah libed heah?" And she glared upon Kayton.

"Well," returned Kayton, "if you've lived here so long you must have been greatly attached to Mr. Argyle."

The old darky swelled with wrath. "Don' yo' try to wish no scandal on me," she warned him. "Ah wah'n no mo' 'tached to Mr. Argyle dan Mr. Argyle war 'tached to me. Dere wah'n nobody else in dis heah town could cook for him."

"And I suppose you were just as much attached to Miss Mazure?"

"Doan' yo' finger yo' can make me say nuffin' 'gainst Miss Mary!" stormed Mrs. Beauregard, shaking her fist at him. "Come roun' heah tryin' to work up mo' lies 'gainst dat chille fo' de newspapers! Ah know nuff to know she didn't done nuffin'."

Kayton bit his lip. "Young Mr. Argyle," he said gravely, "has brought me here to find out the truth. If you know anything that will help to clear Miss Mazuret you had better tell it."

The old termagant was impressed by both words and manner and regarded him doubtfully for a moment. Then she wheeled heavily upon the butler.

"Is dis heah man lyin' to me?" she demanded fiercely.

Finley shook his head. "There's tricks in all trades, Mrs. Beauregard, but I'm thinkin' the truth can't hurt Miss Mary. So whatever ye know ye'd best tell 'im."

Kayton nodded. "Well, what do you know?"

"Ah know," declared the cook defiantly, "Miss Mary hadn't nuffin' to do wi' dat 'sassin'ation, 'cause she was on de upphol fiah all de time."

"How do you know that?" asked Kayton.

"'Cause Ah done see her dere."

"Where were you?"

"Ah was crawlin' up dem kitchen stairs, an' deh was a light up deh, an' Ah look up an' Ah see her."

"What brought you upstairs?"

Mrs. Beauregard gathered up huge handfuls of her apron and rolled her eyes, swallowing visibly before she replied:

"Well, sun, Ah was waked up by a pow'ful row in de middle ob de night,

'Peached like somebody must ha' Tell down de stairs. Ah was scared corpse cold. An' den Ah wait an' lissen an' lissen, an' Ah don't heah nuffin' mo'. Den Ah reckons Ah better 'vestigate dat commotion. An', her eyes rolled, 'Ah done it.'"

"Did you speak to Miss Mazure?" interposed Kayton.

"No, suh," returned the old woman, with a violent shake of her woolly head. "Ah wasn't speakin'; Ah was jes' lookin'."

"Den Ah cal'late Ah mus' dreamed some ob dat noise, so I goes back to bed an' didn't heah nuffin' mo' till mawnin'."

An'—she took a long breath—"if yo'll excuse me, mistah, Ah'll go right back to mah bakin'."

Yo' all 'pears to fo'get dat folks gotta eat."

"All right, general," nodded Kayton, with a smile, thinking of one of the best generals in the Confederate army who bore the name of the old negress; "go back to your commissariat."

Mrs. Beauregard had started to waddle out, but she wheeled about in warlike fashion.

"What's dat?" she demanded.

"What's dat yo' call me?"

Kayton laughed and waved his hand to her. "All right, Mrs. Beauregard. If I want you again I'll send for you."

Slowly withdrawing her gaze from his mirthful face, as if daring him to say anything more, the cook departed, grumbling half aloud:

"Yo' don' see no mo' ob dis niggah. Come 'roun' heah askin' me all dem fool questions, Ah get so—so mingled Ah don' know wheh Ah's at. Hope to de Lawd yo' all cleah out of dis house an' leave his heah fambly in peace."

When Mrs. Beauregard's menacing growl had died away in the depths of the hall outside Kayton's expression instantly changed, and he looked as if he had never smiled in his life.

"I want to see Miss Mazuret," he said to Finley.

"Miss Mary, sir?" returned the butler, visibly disturbed. "Is it necessary? Could ye not let her be?" He was almost pleading.

"No," replied Kayton curtly. "Will you please go to her at once and tell her I want to see her?"

The old man sighed and shook his head. "I will, sir," he said in funeral tones, and he slowly departed. A second later Kayton was making a swift but minute inventory of the contents of the big antique desk between the windows. Manning looked up as his chief suppressed a low exclamation. He was standing at the other window with a handful of envelopes, from one of which he swiftly abstracted something.

"What have you got there, governor?" inquired Manning. Kayton held up a blank envelope.

"One of these had a new $100 bill in it."

"In the desk?" queried his assistant incredulously. "Looks as if it had been pretty well searched too."

Kayton shrugged his shoulders and his lip curled slightly.

"Yes, Joe," he said gently, "by the police."

Manning grinned as he bent over the little hand satchel and carefully packed away his treasures.

"He must have been going to mail it to somebody," he suggested at last. Kayton was examining the find under a pocket magnifying glass.

"That's possible," he muttered.

"I wonder what stopped him," remarked the other thoughtfully. Kayton was holding the other envelopes up to the light, one after another, in rapid succession. He grinned, and with a perfect imitation of Finley brogue replied:

"If ye knew that an' had yer supper ye could go to bed."

Manning laughed and, righting the table, pushed it back to the center of the room and replaced cover and books.

"I've got all these, governor," he said. Kayton nodded.

"Better start now with the servants' finger prints, Joe. Get both hands. What is it, Finley?"

"Mr. Hurley's here, sir," said the butler from the hall door.

"Is Miss Mazuret coming?" demanded the detective.

"I'm goin' to her now, sir."

"Well, don't delay any longer," ordered Kayton, with a touch of sternness. "Tell Mr. Hurley to come in, Joe," he went on rapidly as Finley left, "get out your pad. I want to send a telegram to the San Francisco office. Put this down in cipher." Joe stood with pencil poised as his chief dictated:

"Look up Mrs. John Mazuret; maiden name, Nellie Marsh. Died in 'Frisco about twenty years ago. Get that off, Joe?"

"The girl's mother?" ventured the assistant.

"Yes," nodded Kayton. "I want to know about that scandal. This thing has happened through the girl some way or another."

Hastening out, Manning passed Mr. Hurley in the doorway. The lawyer entered eagerly, stripping off his gloves and held out a hand to the famous detective with a cordial smile.

"Good morning, Mr. Kayton," he said pleasantly. "I'm Mr. Hurley—Mr. Argyle's lawyer."

"Yes," said Kayton quietly, as he shook hands. "I'm glad to meet you."

"I'm glad you've come in on the case," returned the lawyer, in a sincere manner that was in itself a compliment. "I don't doubt you'll clear it all up for us."

"Well, I hope so, Mr. Hurley," said Kayton modestly. This interchange of compliments was the first trial of foils in which each man was estimating the other, and each felt in the other an antagonist, though they were on the same side.

Mr. Hurley found a chair and settled himself comfortably for a chat. Kayton moved about the room like a restless bird dog as he talked, but occasionally confronting the lawyer and fixing him with a keen gaze.

"I suppose," said the latter, "it will take some time. There are so many ways the thing might possibly have occurred."

"As, for instance?" suggested Kayton instantly.

Mr. Hurley was a trifle taken aback at this sudden challenge, but he replied promptly enough:

"Well, let us suppose that this criminal obtained entry either by the connivance of one of the servants or, possibly, one of them lost a key or in some way that the investigations have not yet disclosed. He is discovered by Mr. Argyle, who threatens him with a revolver and in the struggle that ensues the murder results."

Kayton smiles almost imperceptibly. "And how does your theory account for the fact that throughout this struggle—a struggle, you'll notice, in which several blows were exchanged, judging by the marks on the face and chest—how do you account for the fact that Mr. Argyle made no outcry?"

"His outcries may not have been heard," replied the lawyer readily.

"Of course," continued Mr. Hurley, "the argument against the burglar theory is that nothing was stolen, although the burglar may have been frightened away."

"You're convinced, then, that it was a burglar?" asked Kayton.

CARS ARE RUNNING AGAIN

Strike That Tied Up Cincinnati's Street Railways Is Ended.

Cincinnati, May 20.—The streetcar strike in this city came to an end last night, following two days of conference between union leaders and the company officials in the office of President Walter A. Knight of the Federated Improvement associations, who acted as mediator.

The streetcar men's new union has been recognized. Their demand for an increase in wages and better working conditions also have been met and only a few minor details remain to be worked out.

Three thousand Buffalo machinists are on strike for higher pay and shorter work day.

HENRY M. FLAGLER

Man Who Made the Florida East Coast Is Dead at 83.

HENRY M. FLAGLER IS DEAD AT PALM BEACH

One of Nation's Most Picturesque Figures Gone.

West Palm Beach, Fla., May 21.—After an illness of several weeks, Henry M. Flagler, eighty-three years old, whose "overseas" railway from Miami to Key West is regarded as one of the engineering triumphs of the age, is dead. The body will be laid in a mausoleum in the yard of the Memorial church, which he gave to the Presbyterians. At Mr. Flagler's bedside were his son Harry, who had just arrived from Europe the day before, and the Rev. George Morgan, his pastor, who will conduct the funeral services.

From a clerk in a little country grocery store in northern Ohio, Mr. Flagler rose in his first half century of life to a position in the financial world which promised for him a place as the second man of wealth in the world. With millions already acquired in the Standard Oil company, however, he was content and from that time his activities were more for the love of triumph than a desire to add to his wealth.

Mere figures fail to give an adequate idea of what Flagler accomplished in east Florida, where he spent $141,000,000, of which $18,000,000 was in railways and the development of towns; $10,000,000 in the Key West extension; $12,000,000 in hotels and $1,000,000 in steamboat and outside enterprises. There is no means of knowing what he expended in charity and for churches and other beneficiaries, for he did not keep the figures and permitted no one else to know.

ILLEGAL GAINS ALLEGED

Bucketshop Operator Charged With Fraud to the Amount of $250,000.

Birmingham, England, May 21.—At the resumption of the hearing of the charge of bucketshop frauds amounting to $250,000, against Herbert Russell, who is said to have operated under the name of the Morton-Harris company, Stanley Culliford, son of Albert Culliford, who has already been sent to prison for his connection with the company, told of the operations of the men in New York. Young Culliford testified that at Russell's instigation he went to New York and opened an office from which land deals were conducted and opened a bank account in the name of Herbert Jones.

Russell was arrested last week at Monte Carlo. With him was a woman wearing a hatpin the large hollow knob of which, operated by a spring, contained diamonds valued at $12,500.

A SMALL ARMY OF WITNESSES

Will Accompany Roosevelt to Press Libel Suit.

WILL DEFEND HIS CHARACTER

Ishpeming Editor's Statement That the Colonel "Curses, Lies and Gets Drunk Frequently," Will Be Denied on Stand by Influential Friends When Trial of Editor G. A. Newett Is Called at Marquette, Mich.

New York, May 21.—On Saturday a small army of witnesses, among them many prominent men, will accompany Theodore Roosevelt to Marquette, Mich., where the colonel will press his libel suit against George A. Newett, editor of the Ishpeming Iron Ore.

The suit, which was instituted last October, came as the result of a published statement in the Iron Ore that Roosevelt "curses, lies and gets drunk frequently, and all his friends know this."

Among the friends who will go all the way to Marquette to disprove this statement are Robert Bacon, ex-secretary of state; William Loeb, jr., private secretary to Mr. Roosevelt when he was president; Gifford Pinchot, O. K. Davis, secretary of the Progressive national committee; Dr. Alexander Lambert, Roosevelt's doctor; Lawrence Abbot of the Outlook and John Callan O'Loughlin and Gilson Gardner, two Washington newspaper correspondents. Some secret service men and stenographers will also be in the party.

When Mr. Roosevelt began action for $10,000 damages Editor Newett characterized the suit as "another desperate effort to bolster up a fast declining cause." The Iron Ore has been strongly Republican. Thousands of copies of the paper with the editorial containing the reference to Colonel Roosevelt, marked, were distributed in the middle west.

Mr. Roosevelt's friends have vigorously denied that he is intemperate. One who has been in close contact with him for a number of years said that the reports were absurd and altogether unfounded.

It is understood that the defense will try to prove that the colonel was drunk when he delivered certain campaign speeches, notably one of his three speeches at Duluth, and also will ask him to explain his actions at a dinner given by Joseph G. Cannon in Washington.

SIGNIFICANT REPORT ON RAIL ACCIDENTS

Startling Increase in Number of Casualties.

Washington, May 21.—During July, August and September, 1912, defective railroad equipment and tracks were responsible for 68 per cent of all derailments in the United States, and during those three months there were 935 more train accidents, including 901 more collisions and derailments than there were during the same months of 1911.

All train accidents on steam roads during that time killed 288 and injured 4,598 persons, an increase of eighty-seven in the killed and 315 in the injured during the corresponding period of the year before. These facts are disclosed in the accident bulletin of the interstate commerce commission for the quarter ended Sept. 30, 1912.

Accidents of other kinds, including those sustained by employees while at work, not including "industrial accidents," made the number of casualties 2,995 killed and 22,447 injured, a total increase of 237 killed and 3,340 injured. The damage to equipment and roadway by the accidents aggregated $3,366,401, a large increase.

It was found by the commission that of the derailments 10 per cent were due to broken rails and 31 per cent to defective wheels.

Casualties due to "industrial accidents"—such as are not involved in train operations—amounted to 114 killed and 28,884 injured, a decrease of seventeen killed and an increase of 5,234 injured.

The London View of It.

London, May 21.—Referring to the feeling of the Japanese that the action of the California legislature is an insult to their country, the Globe says: "The victors of Sha Ho and Teushima will not be easily persuaded of their unfitness for the privileges granted without demur to the most degraded Ruthenians and Slovaks. No race can be expected to acquiesce in such an invidious distinction merely because they happen to be on the wrong side of an arbitrary color line which does not exclude the negro of the southern states."

Indiana Grand Lodge I. O. O. F. Indianapolis, May 21.—The seventy-seventh semi-annual communication of the Grand lodge of Odd Fellows of Indiana is in session here.

COUNCIL TO DO SOME PAVING

ing and called for the records. They showed that the council voted 3 to 2, to continue sweeping the streets under the same plan used in 1912. The city attorney insisted this was not legal. Dr. Parsons said it had always been done that way. He declared there was a great deal of difference between oiling and sweeping. Dr. Parsons asked if there was any further business and the mayor asked the city attorney if there was any further instruction. The city attorney said there was not and the steam roller was run back in the shed. No one seemed to understand why they put it up without using it.

The paving motion came like a thunderbolt out of a clear sky. It was so cut and dried that it was commonplace. J. W. Tompkins and others petitioned for the paving of First street from Main to the alley between Perkins and Julian streets. "But why not pave that other block around the court house?" asked Councilman Kelley. Everyone looked favorable and Mr. Kelley made a motion to that effect. Dr. Parsons offered a second and everyone voted for it. Later in the meeting it was suggested the other block on the end of Perkins street be included so as to extend the paving to the mill race, and it was passed. The city engineer was instructed to prepare plans and specifications.

Councilman Kelley moved that the street commissioner be instructed to haul the stone and brick from the city park, an improvement that has long been sought. Dr. Parsons offered a second and suggested the branch through the park be cleaned. This was included in the motion and passed.

The overflow from an open ditch in East Third street between Perkins and Julian puzzled the council. The water is carried through the alley east a half block, then south under the I. & C. car barns and back to Third street again. Councilman Orme thought a catch basin to drain part of the water into the sewer was the only solution. Dr. Parsons thought part of the water could be carried straight east in Third. It was finally referred to the street committee which will confer with the city engineer and report at the next meeting.

A resolution for oiling West Second street from Jackson to Hannah street, that part left out of the first preliminary resolution, was passed and June 9 was set for hearing remonstrators and letting the contract.

Councilman Kelley moved that the property owners living in Jackson street between First and Third street be compelled to put a curb and gutter. The motion was successful and June 9 was set for hearing remonstrators and receiving bids.

The street committee reported Perkins street above Sixth, a block in Ninth east of Willow, three blocks in Third, First from Main to the Big Four railroad, a few blocks in West Ninth, fourteen blocks in all, be put in condition by the city for oiling.

Councilman Orme reported the DeGolyer company would tear up the streets for $12.50 a block, the city to do the grading, and that Walter Reinheimer would do grading and all for $20 a block. Dr. Parsons moved the street committee and the street commissioner be instructed to have the streets overhauled for oiling wherever they thought it necessary at as reasonable a figure as possible and just as fast as the property owners were ready to oil. The motion was passed.

Allen Daniels applied for sewer connection at his home in East Seventh street and the matter was referred to the sewer committee. The council approved the bonds of Vance & Wicker for the Tenth street sidewalk improvement and of the Ohio Construction company for the Tenth street improvement, and the mayor and clerk were instructed to sign the contract. The motion that a report on the Willow street improvement be ready by next meeting was carried. The preliminary George street assessment role was adopted. Councilman Kelley moved four-inch water mains be run in West Eleventh street a half block, on petition of Charles Markle and Ed Flechart, and the motion carried. Vance & Wicker were awarded the Julian street curb and gutter contract at 55 cents. Arvel Herkless' bid, the only other one, was 59 cents. Lon Kennedy asked that the sidewalk in front of his home in East Ninth street be raised. It is eleven inches lower than the curb at one end. The street committee will report at the next meeting. The street commissioner was ordered to put in catch basins at the corner of Fourth and Perkins street.

On petition of the three firemen and three engineers at the water and light plant, their wages were increased from 21 to 25 cents an hour. The city attorney said the appropriation ordinance called for only $50 a month for each fireman and engineer, but the council granted the petition anyway. Frank Brown, superintendent of the plant, was instructed to have an engine repaired. The cost will be between $200 and $300, he said.

WHITE SOX WILL PLAY HERE SUNDAY

Fast Indianapolis Team Will be Brought Here For Game—No Changes in Line Up.

KINNETT WILL AGAIN UMPIRE

The Indianapolis White Sox will be the attraction here Sunday. The White Sox have a fast team and are considered one of the best semi-pro teams in Indianapolis. The White Sox were to have played in Chillicothe, Ohio, Sunday, but cancelled when given an opportunity to play here. The Rushville team will present practically the same line up Sunday as last when the team beat the Richmond Waldorfs in a ten inning game. Avery will pitch and Halterman will be in left field. The only change will be in the short stop position. No word has been received from Bob Kleck of Comersville and if he fails to show up Ed Carter of Flora, who is here on a visit may be given a chance. The fans have missed Carter from the line up this year and he would no doubt prove a valuable addition. Grant Kinnett will again umpire and the game will be called at two-thirty o'clock.

ELECTED HEAD OF CLUB.

W. T. Allen, traffic manager of the Central Union Telephone company in Indianapolis, formerly Big Four agent at Milroy, yesterday was elected president of the Traffic Club. Mr. Allen was at the head of the regular ticket which was opposed by an independent ticket.
